Democrats Charge 'Ripper' Measure "Political Maneuver"

METCALF TO GET POST?

Executive Declares He Has Not Made Up Mind About Commission Chief

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17—With the Unemployment Compensation Commission "ripper" bill needing only senate concurrence in minor house amendments, which will be forthcoming early next week, Gov. John W. Bricker today denied that the measure is intended as a "job grab" for the Republicans.

Throughout the hectic debate which preceded passage of the "ripper" bill by the house late yesterday, the measure was described by the Democratic minority as a "purely political" maneuver intended to take jobs from Democrats and give them to Republicans.

"There is no desire on our part," said Bricker, commenting on the minority charges, "to grab a lot of appointments. There is a desire that it (the U. C. C.) be made not a political dumping ground as it would be if Keith Lawrence remained over there."

Davey's Appointee

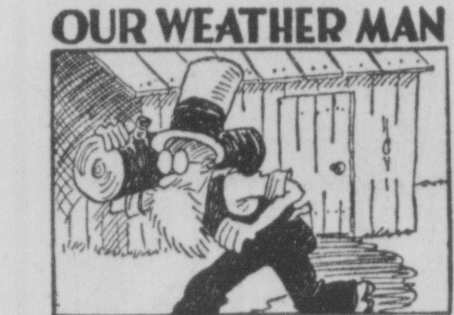

Lawrence, a member of the present three-member Unemployment Compensation Commission, was appointed by former Governor Davey a few days before his term expired, when the senate refused to confirm the re-appointment of Charles S. Leasure, Zanesville. Lawrence, a former state senator, is from Cleveland.

The governor emphasized that he has nothing against Lawrence (Continued on Page Four)

John Hiatt Home Burns Friday; Defective Flue Blamed

The large frame farm dwelling in Walnut township, occupied by Mrs. and Mrs. John Hiatt, was destroyed by fire Friday, the flames being discovered about 9 a. m.

The blaze, believed caused from a defective flue, started in the attic. Some of the household goods was saved.

The home, widely known as the late Robert Peters homestead, is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gale Hanover, of Walnut township, parents of Mrs. Hiatt. The property was erected more than 50 years ago.

Ashville's fire department was called. The fire had gained such headway that it was impossible for the department to save the home.

No estimate on the loss has been given. The home was covered by insurance.

OFFICIAL SEEKS EMPLOYERS' AID TO HELP NEEDY

Herman J. Merz, of Columbus, field representative of the employment service division in this district for the Unemployment Compensation Commission, was in Circleville Friday visiting employers and soliciting their cooperation in the program.

He urged employers to use the service of the commission in obtaining employees if vacancies exist in their plants or businesses.

A record of unemployed is being kept by employees of the commission who operate in Circleville office each Friday. Any employer may obtain workers by contacting the county engineer's office on Thursday or Friday.

Approximately 230 persons have been filed applications with the Circleville office for unemployed benefits. Benefits are being paid at the rate of 60 to 70 a week, and increasing weekly.

Superintendent Fischer Says 232 Absent From Friday Classes

Colds and influenza continued Friday to slash attendance in the city and county schools.

Illness has shown a marked increase in the last week in the city schools. Superintendent Frank Fischer announced Friday that a total of 232 pupils was absent as compared with about 155 last week.

Mr. Fischer's report shows 55 absent from the Corwin building, 40 from the Franklin building, 35 from the High street building, 36 from the Walnut building, and 66 in grades eight to 12. It is estimated 90 to 95 percent of the absences are due to colds and influenza.

Although county schools report absences to the county office at the end of the week, it is believed the absences in the county due to colds is decreasing. Salt creek school closed one day last week due to absences. This school is the only one in the county that has closed due to the epidemic.

CONTROVERSY INTENSE

Efforts To Keep Nation From Foreign Troubles Bring Men Together

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—Two veteran foes of entangling foreign alliances or secret understandings with any foreign power—Senators William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, and Hiram W. Johnson (R) of California—were organizing supporters today to combat senators who oppose their principles.

Borah, 73 years old and dean of the senate, and Johnson, 72, and one of the old-timers in the senate, were powers to consider as the fast-moving controversy over the administration's foreign policy increased in intensity.

The team of Borah and Johnson had chalked up capital achievements. They had battled together successfully against President Woodrow Wilson's effort to have America join the League of Nations; they were leaders in the senate battle that killed President Roosevelt's attempt to have this country join the League of Nations world court, and it was Johnson and Borah who took leading roles in blocking a house bill that would have authorized Mr. Roosevelt to join sovereigns of other countries in naming war aggressors.

Borah Bests Cold

Borah, one of the foremost orators in the senate, was back at his desk after spending several days in emergency hospital because of a severe cold. Already the "Lion of Idaho" as he is called by some colleagues, has begun a series of informal conferences with members on the international situation, the Neutrality Act and national defense.

While Borah was absent from the senate snow-haired Johnson, with his old-time vigor, was condemning the series of secret conferences that have been held between Roosevelt and some members of congress on foreign policy, and the veil of secrecy that enveloped the senate military affairs committee's inquiry into activities of an official French air mission in this country, under auspices of the administration.

Johnson told International News Service he would give his last ounce of strength, if necessary, in opposing any scheme to have the United States adopt a policy of sanctions and boycotts against nations named aggressors. Borah was equally adamant against foreign involvements.

May Disclose Secrets

That the drive of Johnson and others to make public the secret sessions of the senate military affairs committee was about to become at least partly successful, was evident when the committee met again today to give approval for publication of certain parts of its secret testimony.

The fight within the committee has been over what parts of the testimony should be classed as "military secrets" and kept from publication. All committee members oppose making public information that may be of value to a (Continued on Page Four)

BORAH, JOHNSON OPPOSE SECRET ARMS ACTIVITY

Military Affairs Committee
Meets To Determine What

CONTROVERSY INTENSE

Efforts To Keep Nation From Foreign Troubles Bring Men Together

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—Two veteran foes of entangling foreign alliances or secret understandings
with any foreign power—Senators William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, and Hiram W. Johnson (R) of California—were organizing supporters today to combat senators who oppose their principles.

Borah, 73 years old and dean of the senate, and Johnson, 72, and one of the old-timers in the senate,
were powers to consider as the fast-moving controversy over the administration's foreign policy increased in intensity.

The team of Borah and Johnson
had chalked up capital achievements. They had battled together successfully against President Woodrow Wilson's effort to have America join the League of Nations; they were leaders in the senate battle that killed President Roosevelt's attempt to have this country join the League of Nations world court, and it was Johnson and Borah who took leading roles in blocking a house bill that would have authorized Mr.
Roosevelt to join sovereigns of other countries in naming war aggressors.

Borah Bests Cold

Borah, one of the foremost orators in the senate, was back at his desk after spending several days in emergency hospital because of a severe cold. Already the "Lion of Idaho" as he is called by some colleagues, has begun a series of informal conferences with members on the international situation, the Neutrality Act and national defense.

While Borah was absent from the senate snow-haired Johnson,
with his old-time vigor, was condemning the series of secret conferences that have been held between Roosevelt and some members of congress on foreign policy, and the veil of secrecy that enveloped the senate military affairs committee's inquiry into activities of an official French air mission in this country, under auspices of the administration.

Johnson told International News Service he would give his last ounce of strength, if necessary, in opposing any scheme to have the United States adopt a policy of sanctions and boycotts against nations named aggressors. Borah was equally adamant against foreign involvements.

May Disclose Secrets

That the drive of Johnson and others to make public the secret sessions of the senate military affairs committee was about to become at least partly successful,
was evident when the committee met again today to give approval for publication of certain parts of its secret testimony.

The fight within the committee has been over what parts of the testimony should be classed as "military secrets" and kept from publication. All committee members oppose making public information that may be of value to a

ITALIANS DENY ATTEMPT MADE ON DUCE'S LIFE

ROME, Feb. 17—The Italian government today issued an official denial of reports cabled to the United States that an attempt upon the life of Premier Mussolini had recently been made at the Villa Torlonia, his private residence outside of Rome.

Authoritative spokesmen said
there was no foundation for the report, which said that a bullet

Appendicitis

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—Rep.
Dies (D) Texas, chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, was rushed to emergency hospital today, reportedly suffering from acute appendicitis.

The Texan's office staff revealed that he was stricken about 10 o'clock last night, and it was expected that an operation would be performed today.

MERCURY VARIES ONLY TWO POINTS THURSDAY NIGHT

The temperature varied only two degrees from Thursday afternoon
until Friday morning.

Dr. H. R. Clarke, weatherman, reported the highest temperature
Thursday afternoon as 35 degrees.
Lowest during the night was 33 degrees.

Warmer temperatures were predicted for late Friday with cloudy skies and rain was forecast for Saturday.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17—Respite
from freezing temperatures was promised residents of the Columbus area today, with the mercury
due to rise above freezing. A reading of 28 degrees was recorded at Port Columbus at 6 a. m.

Warmer weather may bring with it light rain or snow today or tonight, weather bureau officials at the airport said. Temperatures between 20 and 25 degrees were predicted for tomorrow.

Civic Leaders to Hear Frank Pauly Next Week

"Civic Responsibilities" is the theme of the address to be delivered at the joint luncheon of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants Association, Tuesday noon by Frank B. Pauly, of Columbus.

Pauly is publicity director of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants and has traveled 28,000 miles just in Ohio during the last year, serving the mercantile interests in large and small communities.

Previous to his present connections, Pauly was active in civic affairs in Middletown, where he was the founder and long-time president of the Middletown Civic Association—a unique organization which unites all Chamber of Commerce, industrial, mercantile and Community Chest activities under one administrative head.

Pauly also is a Past District Governor of Rotary International, a former newspaper publisher, syndicate and magazine writer and has spoken before all manner of organizations in 12 states.

Included in his address will be a thorough discussion of the taxation problem.

turn of Errol Flynn to the adventurous role which made him famous.

"The Dawn Patrol" is a story of British wartime aviation, a moving and exciting compound of the pitiful, heedless gallantry of youth and the calmer courage of maturity.

It relates the typical history of a squadron of the British Royal Flying Corps during a few fateful months of 1915—a period when the average life of combat pilots over the western front was only four and one-half flying hours. It was a time when raw and hastily trained recruits were, in a constant, deadly chain, sent forth to almost certain death as soon as they reported for service.

DIRECTOR SAYS MANY COUNTIES JUGGLING FUNDS

Local Governments Trying
To Outsmart State
Officials

MANY REPORTS MISSING

Only 30 Submit Details
Concerning Needs
For Month

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17—Many counties are attempting to "out-smart" the state government in the matter of relief, Charles L. Sherwood, state welfare director, said today.

These counties, Mr. Sherwood said, had balances in their relief funds at the close of 1938, and have transferred these balances to their general funds.

While the director did not openly charge that this action had been taken for a specific purpose, he indicated that it had the earmarks of having been done so that such counties could set up the claim that they had no relief funds in order to participate in the temporary appropriation of $5,000,000 that has been made by the legislature for relief for the first six months of 1939.

Just what action will be determined by Director Sherwood in dealing with the 68 counties which had a balance on hand in their relief fund at the close of 1938 has not been indicated.

Interpretation Debatable

The exact interpretation of the relief bill appears to be a debatable question. Some legislators contend that the bill contemplated that counties which had balances in their relief fund at the close of 1938 were not to participate in the state funds.

The situation as it stands today will result in the attorney general being called on for a ruling, it was felt.

So far only 30 counties in the state have submitted their reports setting forth relief needs in response to the notice and blank forms sent out by Director Sherwood a week ago. Until such a time as a majority or more of the counties submit them the director said it would be impossible to formulate a proper basis for certification of the counties to the state board of control which is the final adjudicator in the matter of making allocations.

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE AID TO COME TO CITY

Hulse Hays, postmaster, announced Friday that a representative of the Social Security board from the field office in Columbus will visit the Circleville postoffice on February 23 to give assistance to both employers and employees in connection with the old age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act. Any person desiring to contact the Social Security Board's representative should notify the postmaster.

He stated that these visits were primarily for rendering any assistance necessary in filing claims for benefits, either by employees who have attained age 65 or by the widow or next kin of an employee who has died before reaching 65 years of age.

In explanation of the reference to claims on death, the postmaster stated that the Social Security Act provides for the payment of a death benefit.

The postmaster further advised that the Social Security Board's representative would be very glad to assist anyone desiring to file application for an account number or anyone who had lost his number and desired to obtain a duplicate. He suggested that anyone who desired information of any kind regarding the old-age insurance section of the Social Security Act should avail himself of this opportunity to get reliable information.

AMERICAN INVENTIVENESS

Do Nothing to Extremes

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 19 is Amos 6:1-6; I Peter 2:11, 12; 4:1-5, the Golden Text being Romans 14:21. "It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth.")

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN THE FIRST reference in the lesson, Amos 6:1-6, it speaks of people that "that lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch themselves upon their couches, and eat lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall: "That chant to the sound of the viol, and invent to themselves instruments of musick, like David: "That drink wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief ointments: but they are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph."

Eating the lambs out of the flock and the calves out of the stall seemed very extravagant indeed to the shepherds of Israel, whose livelihood came from their flocks. The idea of drinking wine from bowls, too, is quite extreme, as if wine glasses or goblets did not hold enough for these old wine-bibbers.

Peter begs the early Christians to be careful how they act and not to be unseemly in their talk or actions, because he is afraid the unconverted ones will not think much of the Christians. "Dearly beloved, I beseech you, as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul: "Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles; that, whereas they speak against evil-doers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation."

In other words, Christians are to set a good example to those outside the church, so that they may the more readily accept the teachings of Jesus.

Temperance, of course, does not mean just abstaining from alcoholic drinks. It means that we should not eat too much or speak hastily and without thought, or do anything to excess.

In the days of the disciples and before that there was not the danger in drinking too much or even in eating too much that there is today. Food was simple for most of the people, and they worked hard outdoors with primitive tools, and needed more food to keep them warm and fit. There was not the danger to others, either, when persons drank too much that there is in this machine age, when one befuddled with drink may run someone down in his automobile, or get himself killed because he is too unsteady upon his feet and cannot think fast enough to get out of the way of train or speeding auto. Or, working with machinery a man may get himself caught and badly hurt.

There are so many more ways in which a drunken person today may injure himself and others that it wise to "look not on the wine when it is red," as the Bible says. Statistics prove that drunken drivers and drunken pedestrians cause far too many accidents.

In Proverbs 23:20, it says: "Be not among the winebibbers; among riotous eaters of flesh: "For the drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty; and drowsiness shall clothe a man with rags."

And in verses 31 and 32 of the same chapter it reads: "Look not upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. "At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder."

Considering all the misery excessive drinking brings, would you not think that men and women would abstain? Homes broken, children without proper food and clothes because a parent spends the money on drink.

Jeremiah, the ancient prophet, tells of taking some young men to a house and setting wine before them, and saying unto them, "Drink ye wine."

"But," they said, "we will drink no wine: for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father commended us saying, 'Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye nor your sons forever.'"

DIRECTOR SAYS MANY COUNTIES JUGGLING FUNDS

Local Governments Trying
To Outsmart State
Officials

MANY REPORTS MISSING

Only 30 Submit Details
Concerning Needs
For Month

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17—Many counties are attempting to "out-smart" the state government in the matter of relief, Charles L. Sherwood, state welfare director, said today.

These counties, Mr. Sherwood said, had balances in their relief funds at the close of 1938, and have transferred these balances to their general funds.

While the director did not openly charge that this action had been taken for a specific purpose, he indicated that it had the earmarks of having been done so that such counties could set up the claim that they had no relief funds in order to participate in the temporary appropriation of $5,000,000 that has been made by the legislature for relief for the first six months of 1939.

Just what action will be determined by Director Sherwood in dealing with the 68 counties which had a balance on hand in their relief fund at the close of 1938 has not been indicated.

Interpretation Debatable

The exact interpretation of the relief bill appears to be a debatable question. Some legislators contend that the bill contemplated that counties which had balances in their relief fund at the close of 1938 were not to participate in the state funds.

The situation as it stands today will result in the attorney general being called on for a ruling, it was felt.

So far only 30 counties in the state have submitted their reports setting forth relief needs in response to the notice and blank forms sent out by Director Sherwood a week ago. Until such a time as a majority or more of the counties submit them the director said it would be impossible to formulate a proper basis for certification of the counties to the state board of control which is the final adjudicator in the matter of making allocations.

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE AID TO COME TO CITY

Hulse Hays, postmaster, announced Friday that a representative of the Social Security board from the field office in Columbus will visit the Circleville postoffice on February 23 to give assistance to both employers and employees in connection with the old age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act. Any person desiring to contact the Social Security Board's representative should notify the postmaster.

He stated that these visits were primarily for rendering any assistance necessary in filing claims for benefits, either by employees who have attained age 65 or by the widow or next kin of an employee who has died before reaching 65 years of age.

In explanation of the reference to claims on death, the postmaster stated that the Social Security Act provides for the payment of a death benefit.

The postmaster further advised that the Social Security Board's representative would be very glad to assist anyone desiring to file application for an account number or anyone who had lost his number and desired to obtain a duplicate. He suggested that anyone who desired information of any kind regarding the old-age insurance section of the Social Security Act should avail himself of this opportunity to get reliable information.

BRICKER SAYS LAWRENCE MUST GIVE UP PLACE

Democrats Charge "Ripper" Measure "Political Maneuver"

personally but feels he should not continue to sit on the commission because of the circumstances of his appointment.

As to Bricker's choice for the $7,500 a year job as administrator of the U. C. C. under the "ripper" bill setup, he said a number of persons were under consideration but he has not yet made up his mind who will get the job. An administrator must be named within 10 days after the bill becomes law with the governor's signature.

Metcalf's Plum

Many observers believed that this choice political plum would go to Former State Sen. Verner Metcalf, of Marietta, but a number of others also were known to be under consideration.

"Service of the commission,"
said Bricker, "will not be disrupted."

He added that the administration intends to get rid of the provisional appointments which he said have been made for political purposes and that there would be a re-check of earlier appointments.

Passed previously by the senate,
the Baker U. C. C. reorganization bill found easily sailing in the house which passed the emergency clause by a vote of 97 to 33 and the bill by a vote of 97 to 32. The senate will receive the measure back Monday night for concurrence in minor amendments.

The measure was the first of the new administration's numerous
"ripper" bills to virtually complete passage through both houses.
Speaker William McCollough said
the others, proposing to revamp
the tax commission, civil service commission, parole board and liquor department, would be given early consideration.

Aware that the Republicans had ample votes to pass the Baker bill,
the House Democrats, led by their floor leader, Rep. Michael A.
Feighan, Cleveland, concentrated their opposition on the emergency clause. It proved to be a futile effort.

Emergency Hit

Feighan introduced an amendment to strike out the emergency clause entirely, asserting that no actual emergency exists and that the clause was intended to serve
no other purpose than to forestall a referendum on the measure, but his proposal was defeated.

With but two exceptions the house members answered each roll call along strictly party lines. All Democrats present, excepting Reps. Kasch, of Summit, and Hannah, of Brown, voted against the bill and all Republicans for it.

The house sent the Ward sales tax redemption bill to the senate
for concurrence in minor amendments after passing the measure 111 to 2 as an emergency.

Immediately after the governor signs it, which probably will be early next week, patriotic, charitable, fraternal and political organizations may start collecting tax coupons which they can redeem
for $3 per $100 worth collected.

To Boost Collections

The bill was designed to increase sales tax collections $5,000,000.
Only about $1,000,000 will be needed to pay redemptions and administer the act.

Object of encouraging organizations to collect the coupons is to tighten collection of the tax.

Charging that experience ratings
of civil service employees were dictated by "professional social workers," Rep. William H. Whetor (D-Lawrence) offered a resolution asking that their activities be investigated.

The resolution would set up a committee of six from the house and senate to probe allegations of Whetor that social workers had an agreement with state government officials regarding placing employees with the unemployment compensation commission.

Meanwhile, Whittemore said that a senate resolution asking
a probe of "un-American activities"
at Ohio State University would be held in abeyance until the rules committee can study testimony of the O.S.U. board of trustees investigation starting today.

The senate leader said he would be provided with a transcript of the testimony as the hearing progressed and the rules committee should decide whether the resolution
should be tossed aside.

"If we find it necessary, we'll recommend adoption of the resolution," Whittemore said, "but I see no reason why the board of trustees cannot do a good job. If they can't the senate will."

Ward Bill Discussed

Asked about a bill introduced by Sen. Grant P. Ward (R-Columbus)
which would abolish the O. S. U.
board of trustees and set up a new nine-member board, Whittemore declared:

"I don't know that the university board needs dissolving. Seven

BULLET WOUND KILLS STUDENT AT ILLINOIS U.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 17 —
William Spurrier, 20 year old University of Illinois sophomore, died today of a bullet wound suffered as he and several other students stood outside a hotel in Cham-paign's resort district.

Mrs. Margaret Strothers, 50, Negress, owner of the Pullman hotel, admitted the shooting to police, and it was expected she would be charged with murder later today.

Spurrier, a resident of Toledo, O., died at 6:40 a. m.

As a result of the shooting, city
and university authorities launched an intensive investigation into charges of rampant vice in this university city.

Mrs. Strothers was quoted as saying that Spurrier was one in a group of five youths who tried to enter the hotel after it had closed early Wednesday. When they were denied admittance one of them hurled a milk bottle through one of the windows and she fired to frighten them away, she said.

She was seized in the hotel
shortly after the shooting, and three girls also were held under open charges.

An accomplished pianist and expert swimmer Spurrier was known as a studious youth. He had moved to Toledo last year
from Evanston, Ill., when his stepfather, R. Irvine, was transferred there by his employers.

After questioning Spurrier's companions were turned over to Dean of Men Fred Turner for disciplinary action.

While the President is at sea,
however, he will be in constant touch with house and senate de-

As a further backdrop, Mr.

headed up by Secretary Marvin
H. McIntyre but at the last minute McIntyre fell victim to the epidemic of gripe that has land-recently.

Battling in McIntyre's stead will

as one of the ablest of the execu-

who is a former Washington and

STRANGE PLANE HUNTED AFTER CRASH IN WEST

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17—
Bursting into flames, an unidentified airplane was reported today to have crashed 60 miles north of Bishop, Cal., in Owens Valley.

A check of airports at Los Angeles and Reno, Nev., failed to reveal any regularly scheduled flight along the route, while air transport companies and U. S.
army officials reported all their planes accounted for during the night.

C. E. Wilson, owner of Crestview Lodge, declared an employee, Allen Dodge, was walking toward his cabin at 11 p. m. when he heard the roar of a motor in the sky.

"I looked up and saw the ship
coming in my direction," Dodge was quoted as saying. "There was a burst of flame, the engine seemed to die and the plane hurtled to the ground."

Wilson said Dodge had called others who also saw the ship
crash. They marked the direction of the accident and intended to set out at dawn to attempt to locate the ship.

FIRE DESTROYS NUMEROUS PASADENA, CAL., BUILDINGS

PASADENA, Cal., Feb. 17 — A roaring fire driven by a fierce gale today destroyed a block of small business buildings and a number of residences in Pasadena, shooting sparks and flames 200 feet into the air, threatening a swank residential section and causing damage estimated at $100,000.

All firemen and apparatus in Pasadena were joined by companies from Los Angeles, San Gabriel, Glendale and South Pasadena. The worst gale in years made it almost impossible for firemen to manipulate hoses and apparatus, and trees and other debris blown down impeded their efforts.

ATLANTA

P. T. A. held its regular meeting at the school Tuesday evening with the new president, Mrs. Anna Skinner in charge.

The school band led by Paul Rose opened with two numbers
which was followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Minutes were read and approved. Reports given by the committees, Mr. Sponsler on the social committee gave a very interesting plan of entertainment for the social benefit of all ages in the community. Mr.
Canup gave the report of the finance committee with a result of a vote on a "Stunt Night" and also voted to extend an invitation to New Holland O. E. S. to give
"Where's the Grand Ma" on our stage
in the near future.

The program in charge of Miss Heitman presented the following program: vocal solo by Edwin Dean and Miss Ater at the piano, talk by F. K. Blair on vocational education, round table discussion
by Mr. Moore and his boys, style show by Miss Prey and her girls.

W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Frances Betts extended the hospitality of her home to the February meeting of the W.C.T.U.
Mrs. Daisy Stinson the president presided. The meeting opened by singing the "Crusade Hymn". The president read the scripture, I John 3 chapter, one of Frances E. Willards favorite chapters in the Bible. Mrs. Gray led us in prayer.
The roll call was answered by quotations from the writings of Frances E. Willard. After a short business session a very interesting program in charge of Mrs. Donald Kempton was given. This being the Frances E. Willard Memorial meeting, the program consisted of tributes to "America's Uncrowned Queen". Mrs. Kempton told us how Miss Willard became a famous woman. She was a woman of culture, a woman suffragist, an educator. She became the first president of the National Council of Women, in 1888. National President of Alpha Phi in 1888-89.
National President of the W.C.T.U.
1879-1898. Founder of the World's
W. C. T. U. 1883. Frances E. Wil-

cause not bounded by state or country, but one that appeals to the human interest of the civilized world.

She is the only woman whose statue stands in Statuary Hall,

D. C. This year we are celebrating the one hundred anniversary of her birth. No words can adequately express our love and admiration for this lofty soul and inspiring genius, who though dead
in body, yet lives in soul and spirit
to ever bless and inspire civilization in the galaxy of the world's foremost leaders.

Mrs. V. C. Stump read the paper "America's Uncrowned Queen". "She Became a Famous Woman", by Mrs. Bertha Ater.

BRICKER SAYS LAWRENCE MUST GIVE UP PLACE

Democrats Charge 'Ripper' Measure "Political

personally but feels he should not continue to sit on the commission because of the circumstances of his appointment.

As to Bricker's choice for the $7,500 a year job as administrator of the U. C. C. under the "ripper" bill setup, he said a number of persons were under consideration but he has not yet made up his mind who will get the job. An administrator must be named within 10 days after the bill becomes law with the governor's signature.

Metcalf's Plum
Many observers believed that this choice political plum would go to Former State Sen. Verner Metcalf, of Marietta, but a number of others also were known to be under consideration.

"Service of the commission," said Bricker, "will not be disrupted."

He added that the administration intends to get rid of the provisional appointments which he said have been made for political purposes and that there would be a re-check of earlier appointments.

Passed previously by the senate, the Baker U. C. C. reorganization bill found easily sailing in the house which passed the emergency clause by a vote of 97 to 33 and the bill by a vote of 97 to 32. The senate will receive the measure back Monday night for concurrence in minor amendments.

The measure was the first of the new administration's numerous "ripper" bills to virtually complete passage through both houses. Speaker William McCollough said the others, proposing to revamp the tax commission, civil service commission, parole board and liquor department, would be given early consideration.

Aware that the Republicans had ample votes to pass the Baker bill, the House Democrats, led by their floor leader, Rep. Michael A. Feighan, Cleveland, concentrated their opposition on the emergency clause. It proved to be a futile effort.

Emergency Hit
Feighan introduced an amendment to strike out the emergency clause entirely, asserting that no actual emergency exists and that the clause was intended to serve no other purpose than to forestall a referendum on the measure, but his proposal was defeated.

With but two exceptions the house members answered each roll call along strictly party lines. All Democrats present, excepting Reps. Kasch, of Summit, and Hannah, of Brown, voted against the bill and all Republicans for it.

The house sent the Ward sales tax redemption bill to the senate for concurrence in minor amendments after passing the measure 111 to 2 as an emergency.

Immediately after the governor signs it, which probably will be early next week, patriotic, charitable, fraternal and political organizations may start collecting tax coupons which they can redeem for $3 per $100 worth collected.

To Boost Collections
The bill was designed to increase sales tax collections $5,000,000. Only about $1,000,000 will be needed to pay redemptions and administer the act.

Object of encouraging organizations to collect the coupons is to tighten collection of the tax.

Charging that experience ratings of civil service employees were dictated by "professional social workers," Rep. William H. Whetno (D-Lawrence) offered a resolution asking that their activities be investigated.

The resolution would set up a committee of six from the house and senate to probe allegations of Whetno that social workers had an agreement with state government officials regarding placing employees with the unemployment compensation commission.

Meanwhile, Whittemore said that a senate resolution asking a probe of "un-American activities" at Ohio State University would be held in abeyance until the rules committee can study testimony of the O.S.U. board of trustees investigation starting today.

The senate leader said he would be provided with a transcript of the testimony as the hearing progressed and the rules committee could decide whether the resolution should be tossed aside.

"If we find it necessary, we'll recommend adoption of the resolution," Whittemore said, "but I see no reason why the board of trustees cannot do a good job. If they can't the senate will."

Ward Bill Discussed
Asked about a bill introduced by Sen. Grant P. Ward (R-Columbus) which would abolish the O. S. U. board of trustees and set up a new nine-member board, Whittemore declared:

BULLET WOUND KILLS STUDENT AT ILLINOIS U.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 17 — William Spurrier, 20 year old University of Illinois sophomore, died today of a bullet wound suffered as he and several other students stood outside a hotel in Champaign's resort district.

Mrs. Margaret Strothers, 50, Negress, owner of the Pullman hotel, admitted the shooting to police, and it was expected she would be charged with murder later today.

Spurrier, a resident of Toledo, O., died at 6:40 a. m.

As a result of the shooting, city and university authorities launched an intensive investigation into charges of rampant vice in this university city.

Mrs. Strothers was quoted as saying that Spurrier was one in a group of five youths who tried to enter the hotel after it had closed early Wednesday. When they were denied admittance one of them hurled a milk bottle through one of the windows and she fired to frighten them away, she said.

She was seized in the hotel shortly after the shooting, and three girls also were held under open charges.

An accomplished pianist and expert swimmer Spurrier was known as a studious youth. He had moved to Toledo last year from Evanston, Ill., when his stepfather, R. Irvine, was transferred there by his employers.

After questioning Spurrier's companions were turned over to Dean of Men Fred Turner for disciplinary action.

to Key West and the waiting cruiser Houston.

While the President is at sea, however, he will be in constant touch with house and senate debate in Washington and fast-moving developments abroad. Radio and seaplane will do the job.

As a further backdrop, Mr. Roosevelt directed establishment of temporary executive offices in Miami while he is cruising. Originally they were to have been headed up by Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre but at the last minute McIntyre fell victim to the epidemic of gripe that has land low so many in the White House recently.

Battling in McIntyre's stead will be William D. Hassett, regarded as one of the ablest of the executive office secretariat. Hassett, who is a former Washington and European correspondent, will direct delivery of air-flown mail pouches, act as intermediary for all radio dispatches from the presidential flagship and disseminate news of the executive's activities at sea to accompanying newspapermen.

STRANGE PLANE HUNTED AFTER CRASH IN WEST

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17—Bursting into flames, an unidentified airplane was reported today to have crashed 60 miles north of Bishop, Cal., in Owens Valley.

A check of airports at Los Angeles and Reno, Nev., failed to reveal any regularly scheduled flight along the route, while air transport companies and U. S. army officials reported all their planes accounted for during the night.

C. E. Wilson, owner of Crestview Lodge, declared an employee, Allen Dodge, was walking toward his cabin at 11 p. m. when he heard the roar of a motor in the sky.

"I looked up and saw the ship coming in my direction," Dodge was quoted as saying. "There was a burst of flame, the engine seemed to die and the plane hurtled to the ground."

Wilson said Dodge had called others who also saw the ship crash. They marked the direction of the accident and intended to set out at dawn to attempt to locate the ship.

FIRE DESTROYS NUMEROUS PASADENA, CAL., BUILDINGS

PASADENA, Cal., Feb. 17 — A roaring fire driven by a fierce gale today destroyed a block of small business buildings and a number of residences in Pasadena, shooting sparks and flames 200 feet into the air, threatening a swank residential section and causing damage estimated at $100,000.

All firemen and apparatus in Pasadena were joined by companies from Los Angeles, San Gabriel, Glendale and South Pasadena. The worst gale in years made it almost impossible for firemen to manipulate hoses and apparatus, and trees and other debris blown down impeded their efforts.

ATLANTA

P. T. A. held its regular meeting at the school Tuesday evening with the new president, Mrs. Anna Skinner in charge.

The school band led by Paul Rose opened with two numbers which was followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Minutes were read and approved. Reports given by the committees, Mr. Sponser on the social committee gave a very interesting plan of entertainment for the social benefit of all ages in the community.

Mr. Canup gave the report of the finance committee with a result of a vote on a "Stunt Night" and also voted to extend an invitation to New Holland O. E. S. to give "Where's Grand Ma" on our stage in the near future.

The program in charge of Miss Heitman presented the following program: vocal solo by Edwin Dean and Miss Ater at the piano, talk by F. K. Blair on vocational education, round table discussion by Mr. Moore and his boys, style show by Miss Prey and her girls.

W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Frances Betts extended the hospitality of her home to the February meeting of the W.C.T.U.

Mrs. Daisy Stinson the president presided. The meeting opened by singing the "Crusade Hymn". The president read the scripture, I John 3 chapter, one of Frances E. Willard's favorite chapters in the Bible. Mrs. Gray led us in prayer. The roll call was answered by quotations from the writings of Frances E. Willard. After a short business session a very interesting program in charge of Mrs. Donald Kempton was given. This being the Frances E. Willard Memorial meeting, the program consisted of tributes to "America's Uncrowned Queen". Mrs. Kempton told us how Miss Willard became a famous woman. She was a woman of culture, a woman suffragist, an educator. She became the first president of the National Council of Women, in 1888. National President of Alpha Phi in 1888-89. National President of the W.C.T.U. 1879-1898. Founder of the World's W. C. T. U. 1883. Frances E. Willard, whose name stands for a cause not bounded by state or country, but one that appeals to the human interest of the civilized world.

She is the only woman whose statue stands in Statuary Hall, U. S. capital building, Washington, D. C. This year we are celebrating the one hundred anniversary of her birth. No words can adequately express our love and admiration for this lofty soul and inspiring genius, who though dead in body, yet lives in soul and spirit to ever bless and inspire civilization.

SECURITY ACT TAX SAME AS FOR LAST YEAR

Director Of Social Board
Office Answers Question
For Employers

RATES CHANGE IN 1940

Ruling Made For Old Age,
Unemployment Insurance
Divisions

In response to numerous questions received from employers recently, C. C. Darby, manager of the Social Security Board office in Columbus, Friday said that taxes under the Social Security Act are the same as they were during the year 1938. This is true both in the case of old-age and unemployment compensation insurance taxes which are collected by the federal government, Mr. Darby said.

Commenting on this matter, he made the following statement: "Taxes which are levied in connection with the old-age insurance program are paid equally by workers and their employers. The rate continues at 1 percent for each on wages paid during 1939, not including wages paid to any individual by one employer in excess of $3,000 for the year. After 1939 the rates of these taxes in relation to wages will be, according to present terms of the Act, as follows: 1940-41-42 . . . 1 1/2 percent for each 1943-44-45 . . . 2 percent for each 1946-47-48 . . . 2 1/2 percent for each 1949 and thereafter 3 percent for each."

"The Federal unemployment compensation tax, which is paid only by employers of eight or more workers, is three percent of last year's wages. The contributions paid by employers to the state under its job insurance law may be deducted from the Federal tax up to 90 percent of the latter," Mr. Darby said.

TWO CONVICTED AS FORGERS TO GAIN PAROLES

Two men sent to the Ohio state reformatory at Mansfield from Pickaway county were among 148 paroled Thursday by the Ohio state parole board.

They are Gerald McQuirt and William Jordan, both sentenced on forgery charges. McQuirt's parole is effective March 15. Jordan's parole is effective April 15. He is to go to West Virginia.

CITIZENSHIP DECLARATION NECESSARY FOR RELIEF

Declaration of citizenship will be required in written form from all of W. P. A.'s 26,000 employees in Central Ohio by March 5, District Director J. L. Kelly announced today.

Each employee will be required to sign a notarized statement declaring he is a citizen of, or owes allegiance to, the United States, it was said. Citizens of United States possessions fall in the second category.

Director Kelly said all aliens found on the program, who had evaded previous existing regulations prohibiting the employment of aliens, would be discharged. No employee who has not signed the declaration of citizenship may be employed after March 5, he said.

CATTLE FEEDERS GATHER MONDAY TO HEAR MCCANN

SECURITY ACT TAX SAME AS FOR LAST YEAR

Director Of Social Board
Office Answers Question
For Employers

RATES CHANGE IN 1940

Ruling Made For Old Age,
Unemployment Insurance
Divisions

In response to numerous questions received from employers recently, C. C. Darby, manager of the Social Security Board field office in Columbus, Friday said that taxes under the Social Security Act are the same as they were during the year 1938. This is true both in the case of old-age and unemployment compensation insurance taxes which are collected by the federal government, Mr. Darby said.

Commenting on this matter, he made the following statement: "Taxes which are levied in connection with the old-age insurance program are paid equally by workers and their employers. The rate continues at 1 percent for each on wages paid during 1939, not including Wages paid to any individual by one employer in excess of $3,000 for the year. After 1939 the rates of these taxes in relation to wages will be, according to present terms of the Act, as follows: 1940-41-42 .1 percent for each 1943-44-45 .2 percent for each 1946-47-48 .2 percent for each 1949 and thereafter 3 percent for each.

"The Federal unemployment compensation tax, which is paid only by employers of eight or more workers, is three percent of last year's wages. The contributions paid by employers to the state under its job insurance law may be deducted from the Federal tax up to 90 percent of the latter," Mr. Darby said.

TWO CONVICTED AS FORGERS TO GAIN PAROLES

Two men sent to the Ohio state reformatory at Mansfield from Pickaway county were among 148 paroled Thursday by the Ohio state parole board.

They are Gerald McQuirt and William Jordan, both sentenced on forgery charges. McQuirt's parole is effective March 15. Jordan's parole is effective April 15. He is to go to West Virginia.

CITIZENSHIP DECLARATION NECESSARY FOR RELIEF

Declaration of citizenship will be required in written form from all of W. P. A.'s 26,000 employees in Central Ohio by March 5, District Director J. L. Kelly announced today.

Each employee will be required to sign a notarized statement declaring he is a citizen of, or owes allegiance to, the United States, it was said. Citizens of United States possessions fall in the second category.

Director Kelly said all aliens found on the program, who had evaded previous existing regulations prohibiting the employment of aliens, would be discharged. No employee who has not signed the declaration of citizenship may be employed after March 5, he said.

CATTLE FEEDERS GATHER MONDAY TO HEAR M'CANN

Pickaway county cattle feeders will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in the Farm Bureau home.

L. P. McCann, extension specialist of Ohio State University, will be in charge of the meeting. He will discuss the mid-Winter cattle feeding situation and outlook for Spring and Summer months.

Members of the Pickaway county 4-H Baby Beef club will attend the meeting.

OPEN LETTERS

TO CITY OFFICIALS
GENTLEMEN: The suggestion offered in council that the new traffic light at Court and Mill streets be kept in operation throughout the day, and not only during those periods when children are going to and from school, will greatly aid traffic conditions on S. Court street. The grade on Court street, north of Mill street, causes motorists to increase their speed and they ordinarily do not slow down for the school zone. A traffic light in operation will serve to check this condition. Operation of a traffic light for short periods throughout the day is confusing to motorists. Unless the light has a sign explaining that it is in operation only during school hours, motorists frequently stop at the intersection, believing the light may be defective and they would be going through on the wrong signal.

TO FUN SEEKERS
FRIENDS: Plan to attend Million Dollar Night in Memorial hall tonight. The event is being staged by Howard Hall post, American Legion, for money for its welfare fund. It promises to be plenty of fun and entertainment with valuable prizes to be awarded. The American Legion takes an active part in civic activities, giving its support to all worthwhile activities staged by various organizations. Legionnaires deserve your support for Million Dollar Night.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MAYOR W. B. CADY
DEAR SIR: Tonight the first session of Pickaway county's annual basketball tournament opens in the C. A. C. gymnasium. Another session will be held Saturday night with more games scheduled for next weekend. It would be appreciated by rural folk if the parking regulations in the downtown district were "forgotten" for the next two weeks.

CIRCUITEER.

TO GAMING DEVICE OWNERS
OPERATORS: How many of your slot machines and punchboards must be confiscated by the sheriff's department and city police before you are convinced that these devices will not be tolerated? Sheriff Charles Radcliff told Pickaway countians when he took office in 1931 that he intended to keep this county clean of gaming devices. He has kept that pro-

World At A Glance

President Roosevelt may be about as popular as ever with the American public in general. The straw polls, for whatever they may signify, all indicate that he does not lose much ground so far as the average of folk are concerned.

However, his influence certainly was at low ebb in the Senate the day the solons rejected his appointment of Floyd H. Roberts to the federal bench by a majority of 72 to 9. The Senate has turned down Presidential appointments before, but that was by the widest margin in American history. On a strict party vote, the White House tenant ought to have won 58 to 23. In fact, he lost 50 to 8, counting only Democratic Senators. True, he picked up one independent ballot (Senator Norris). All the Republicans were against him. Perhaps that was natural—though there are some quite new Dealerish G. O. P. Senators. Senator Shipstead (another liberal, as a Farmer-Laborite) was against the administration, too. And there were 15 absentees. If these absentees had been pro-Roosevelt and had tried very hard, most of them could have been on the job. The truth is that they did not want to vote against the President, but they did not want to vote HIS WAY either. So they were not THERE.

The nub of it is that "F.D." could not control quite as many as 1 in 4

of his own Senate Democrats, regardless of other partisans. He did not even hold his New Deal Democratic alignment together. If he had been able to do so, he could have squeaked through.

HOW DID IT HAPPEN?

In the first place, Floyd H. Roberts' appointment to the federal bench in Virginia was not so very important nationally. It is agreed that it was a pretty good appointment also—nothing the matter with Judge Roberts.

But Senators Glass and Byrd of Virginia had made a different selection, and it is recognized that a Senator is entitled to dictate federal appointments within his own bailiwick. And here were two Senators, in partnership, who concurred. It made a strong team.

Other Senators are like this: They want political "paw" as much as Senators Glass and Byrd do. If they do, not support Glass and Byrd, Glass and Byrd will not support them, is turn. Yet the administration does not regard Glass, Byrd and their ilk as genuine New Dealers; consequently it does not heed their admonitions. It rates them, not exactly as Republicans, but as some other alien political breed; so, when they tell what they want, they do not get it. Nevertheless, there are Democrats (even New Deal Democrats) who still feel that Glass and

Byrd are Democrats under the skin.

Parenthetically: Glass and Byrd are no more the same with Neely or Pepper than Capper and Frazier, and Austin and Hale are the same.

The parties are completely split up.

And President Roosevelt has not got either party that he can depend on—not if that Roberts vote means anything.

Moreover, it is a GOOD thing. Checks and balances! That was the original idea. It has been lost sight of lately.

WHO IS A COMMUNIST?

In connection with the Roberts appointment, nobody has asked, "Is he a Communist?" That is rational, anyhow. Nobody so considered him. But the query was put concerning Tom Amle, for the Interstate Commerce Commission. And concerning Harry Bridges, labor leader. And they both have answered, "No."

Who knows better than each of them what he is.

If anybody asks me, "Am I a Democrat or a Republican?" and I reply "Yes" or "No," I assume that my word will be taken for it. It generally is, at the primary polls. There is not much discredit, one way or the other. If I say I am not a Communist, why shouldn't that "go" too?

I ought to know.

mise. There are numerous complaints circulated in Circleville from time to time about gambling in the city. There is gambling in every city and it would be impossible to completely check all forms of gambling. Efforts have been centered on devices that make it possible for children to gamble. Officers should continue their campaigns to check as much gambling as possible. They deserve praise for what they have accomplished.

CIRCUITEER.

TO B. S. MILLAR
DEAR SIR: Congratulations on your appointment to a position in the state conservation department. It would be difficult to find a man better qualified for conservation work. Your long association with Pickaway county organizations for sportsmen and your active participation in conservation projects in this county should be of valuable assistance to you in your new work. Pickaway countians are pleased to learn of your appointment and wish you success.

CIRCUITEER.

TO H. J. BRIGGS, J. B. CROMLEY
GENTLEMEN: Urge some improvements along the Scioto river when you attend the 34th annual convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress in Washington, March 23 and 24. Cleaning out the channel of the stream, straightening its course and construction of dams on tributaries would prevent so many floods in this district. There have been many surveys along the stream, but nothing is ever done to correct the situation. Circleville was fortunate in obtaining the Route 22 improvement, to keep the road out of flood waters, but that does not benefit farmers whose lands along the stream are flooded several times a year.

CIRCUITEER.

TO ERVIN LEIST
DEAR SIR: Circleville residents were pleased to learn of your appointment as chemist-superintendent of the new disposal plant. Your position will be a difficult one until you and your assistants become familiar with the plant operation. Your training in chemistry and experience in laboratories of Circleville firms should be of great assistance to you. Circleville residents wish you success.

CIRCUITEER.

TO POLICE OFFICERS
PATROLMEN: Have you noticed the epidemic of auto backfires in Circleville in recent weeks? I have heard several residents complain about this nuisance. It seems that drivers enjoy this pastime late at night when they know it will create the greatest disturbance to those trying to get some rest. A few arrests and fines would stop this practice.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MOTORISTS
DRIVERS: Did you check the list of streets designated recently by city council as "through and stop" streets. The ordinance became effective Jan. 20. Remember, officers will be given instructions to enforce this ordinance to the letter to prevent accidents at city intersections. There are numerous drivers in the city who are accustomed to stopping for a street only when it is necessary. A few mistakes may be costly.

CONVICT'S DAUGHTER
By RUTH RAY KANE

READ THIS FIRST:
Asked to leave her boarding house because she had no money to pay rent, Lona Ackerman finds herself, stranded on a park bench. He offers to treat her to something to eat. After telling him something to eat. After telling him her father is in the penitentiary for murder, Lona learns the stranger's name is Jim Claridge. He obtains a hotel room for her and promises to call her next day.
(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER FOUR
SHABBY AND commonplace as it was, the hotel room was almost unbelievable luxury to Lona after Mrs. Peterman's and the park bench. Brushing her curling brown hair before the dresser mirror, she wondered what her father would say if he could see her now, and what he would think if he knew she had taken money from a strange man. She would never tell him, she decided.

In her letters these last three months she had never breathed a word about being out of work, or the sickening tramp, tramp of the streets that had been grinding her shoes to pieces and her soul to shreds. She hadn't the heart to add to his already too heavy burden. Especially when it couldn't have done the slightest good.

She had seen her father only once since that black day six years ago, when the gates of the gray prison at the state capital had closed on his bowed head. He had permitted her only one visit.

"I can't stand to have you see me here," he had told her sadly, and she would never forget the sight of his white face shining against the drab plainness of the tiny prison sitting room, a face already touched, after only a month's absence from her, with the slowness of expression she had learned to associate with prison bars.

"You're not to come again," he had commanded her, in his quiet voice. She had stared at him unbelievably.

"But, daddy!" she had burst out. "I've got to come! Surely you can't mean you don't want to see me?"

"I can't stand it, Lona, I tell you!" The pain in his eyes had cut her to the heart. "You're too young and too unspoiled to be coming to this place. I want you to try and forget me. And you must leave Bridgewater, too. I'll never be satisfied until I know you are away from it all. I want you to go to the States, over where nobody knows you and about—me. You're young and strong and you'll find work. And maybe there'll be a young man some day soon, and he mustn't connect you up with—all this. Don't you see, Lona, girl?"

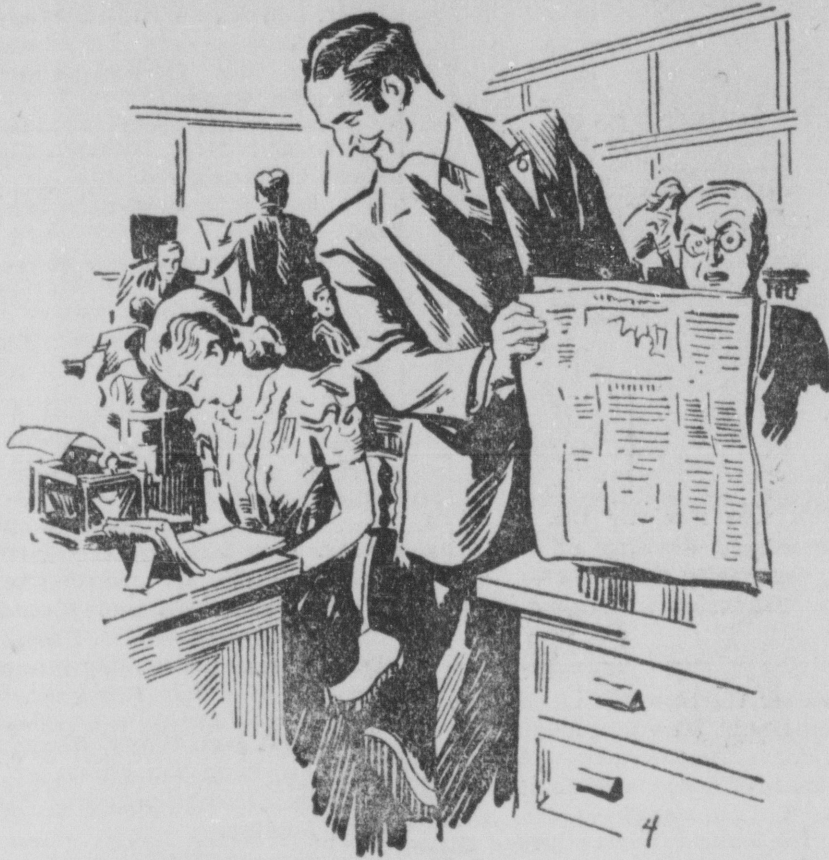

She had nodded, unable to speak. In her heart she knew he was right. She hadn't told him that, since the trial that had put him in prison, all Bridgewater had been watching her, talking, whispering behind their hands. She had never intended to let him know that. But he had guessed. Poor daddy!

After that visit to him, she had sold the furniture in the old house where she had lived ever since she could remember. And with every piece of it, there had seemed to go something out of her heart.

When it had been reduced to a few pitiful dollars, she had gone to the city as her father had wanted her to do. She remembered herself, a raw, wistful little girl with brown hair and sad blue eyes, walking into the beehive of a big city office with the letter her father's lawyer had given her clutched in her hand.

That letter had secured her a job. Work had been plentiful then. And she was really a competent stenographer. Daddy had seen to that. He had been a teacher in the business school back in Bridgewater, and he had just finished testing her on her last lesson in shorthand when—it happened!

Her hand relaxed on the hairbrush now, as she recalled the first time she had taken dictation in the Ardmore offices. Old Stephen Ardmore had read her letter of introduction, and looked her over with kindly understanding in his wrinkled face. Then he had given her a pad and began to rattle off a test letter in his gruff voice, a letter like the familiar ones her father had run through with her night after night. As she had set down the well-learned pathos and dashes it had taken all her self-control to keep from flinging the pad from her and bursting into tears. Only the realization that she must write to her father, and that she couldn't tell him she had failed him and his teaching, made her stick to it.

In the five years she remained with Stephen Ardmore, she never took the cover from her typewriter of a morning or listened to the familiar, "Yours of the 4th instance received . . ." that she did not think of her father and the tragedy that had come into her life.

It had been a dreary, lonely time, that five years. She had been afraid to make friends among her fellow office workers. Afraid of the things they must be thinking of her when they found out. The memory of the whispers, and curt looks, and the back-fence gossip of Bridge-city was etched too deeply into her young mind to allow her to risk any further hurt. And the "young man" of whom her father had spoken so hopefully that awful day at the prison did not materialize.

Two or three of the boys at the office noticed her, to be sure. She was too vivid, with her flying brown halo of curls, and the solemn depth to her blue eyes, not to pique the curiosity of every young man with whom she came in contact. But the memory of that beast her father had killed stalked her in every pair of masculine eyes into which she looked.

HE had been friendly and smiling, too, at first. He had joked with her, and called her "Baby" in a husky, teasing voice, the way Jack Foster, the Ardmore clerk. He had been even worse than Tim! Old Stephen Ardmore himself was the only man she could have trusted as she was trusting this—Jim. Old Stephen, who was dead now, almost a year. She wouldn't have believed that any young man could be so disinterested.

For a long time she sat there staring at her own somber, blue-eyed reflection, a wave of perplexing doubts gripping her. Perhaps, after all, he'd expect her to—pay. Maybe tomorrow. This kindness might be only a new kind of approach. Why should any man spend his money on a strange girl? How could he know she was telling the truth? Perhaps he thought she would never find work, and was only sitting back, waiting. . . .

"No!" she told herself solemnly, at last. "He's got eyes like Tiny. He couldn't be anything but straight. I can trust him. I've got to trust him. I can't go back to the park!"

After she had turned off the light and stretched out on the lumpy bed, she kept saying it over and over to herself. . . . I've got to trust him. . . . I can't go back to the park.

With that refrain running through her mind, she fell asleep finally, and dreamed that she was back home in the old days when she had Tiny, the spaniel, to love her—those terrible days when her father had first gone away and there was nobody left in the world who really cared what became of her. Only in her dream, the spaniel's name seemed to have changed, somehow, from Tiny to Jim. And he had grown, miraculously, into a tall, sun-burned young man, with kind eyes!

3. What is wampum?

Words of Wisdom
Life, according to an Arabic proverb, is composed of two parts; that which is past—a dream; and that which is to come—a wish.

Today's Horoscope
The year to come will be a mixed one for those whose birthday is today. It is best for them to avoid sudden changes. Good fortune will come through unexpected happenings and windfalls. A child born today will have a happy life. He will be imaginative, artistic, ingenious, and naturally, with these qualities, impressionable. He or she will be exceedingly successful and popular.

Good fortune will attend him.

Hints on Etiquette
Never fail to keep a dinner engagement except for the most urgent reason, such as illness to yourself or immediate family or something equally serious. Write at once to your hostess and express your regrets, giving your reason. If there is no time to write, phone her or send a messenger.

Horoscope for Sunday
Your business affairs will occupy you almost exclusively during the year beginning with today, if it is your natal day. It will be a year of prosperity, with a possible gain through an inheritance. A lively sense of humor will be enjoyed by the child born today. He will also be artistic and very quick.

One-Minute Test Answers
1. Death Valley, California, which is 276 feet below sea level.
2. It comes from the Latin word "fascis," a bundle of rods with an ax in the middle, carried as a badge of authority by certain officials.
3. Shell money, formerly used by American Indians.

Specialism Given Unique Description

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
MY FRIEND, Dr. Karl Menninger, of Topeka, author of the current very popular book, Man Against Himself, delivered himself, in the course of an address at the New York Academy of Medicine a month or so ago, of the following fable, which explains from his point of view the division of medicine into specialties:

"Six blind men sat by the gate of a great city as an elephant was led slowly past. Inspired by scientific curiosity of the highest degree, the six blind men rushed forward to palpate the great beast and to determine the nature of his being.

"The first man's hands fell upon the elephant's tusks. 'Ah!' said he, 'This creature is a thing of bones; they even protrude through his skin.' Later on, years having past, this man became an orthopedist.

Seized Trunk
"At the same time the second blind man seized the elephant's trunk and identified its function. 'What a nose!' he exclaimed. 'Surely this is the most important part of the animal.' Accordingly, he became a rhinologist.

"The third man chanced upon the elephant's great flapping ear and came to a similar conclusion; for him the ear was everything, so he, in time, became an otologist.

"The fourth blind man rested his hands on the huge chest and abdomen of the elephant. 'The contents of this barrel must be enormous,' he thought, 'and the pathological derangements infinite in number and variety.' Nothing would do but that he should become an internist.

OPEN LETTERS

TO CITY OFFICIALS

GENTLEMEN: The suggestion offered in council that the new traffic light at Court and Mill streets be kept in operation throughout the day, and not only during those periods when children are going to and from school, will greatly aid traffic conditions on S. Court street. The grade on Court street, north of Mill street, causes motorists to increase their speed and they ordinarily do not slow down for the school zone. A traffic light in operation will serve to check this condition. Operation of a traffic light for short periods throughout the day is confusing to motorists. Unless the light has a sign explaining that it is in operation only during school hours, motorists frequently stop at the intersection, believing the light may be defective and they would be going through on the wrong signal.

CIRCUITEER.

TO FUN SEEKERS

FRIENDS: Plan to attend Million Dollar Night in Memorial hall tonight. The event is being staged by Howard Hall post, American Legion, for money for its welfare fund. It promises to be plenty of fun and entertainment with valuable prizes to be awarded. The American Legion takes an active part in civic activities, giving its support to all worthwhile activities staged by various organizations. Legionnaires deserve your support for Million Dollar Night.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MAYOR W. B. CADY

DEAR SIR: Tonight the first session of Pickaway county's annual basketball tournament opens in the C. A. C. gymnasium. Another session will be held Saturday night with more games scheduled for next weekend. It would be appreciated by rural folk if the parking regulations in the downtown district were "forgotten" for the next two weeks.

CIRCUITEER.

TO GAMING DEVICE OWNERS

OPERATORS: How many of your slot machines and punchboards must be confiscated by the sheriff's department and city police before you are convinced that these devices will not be tolerated? Sheriff Charles Radcliff told Pickaway countians when he took office in 1931 that he intended to keep this county clean of gaming devices. He has kept that promise. There are numerous complaints circulated in Circleville from time to time about gambling in the city. There is gambling in every city and it would be impossible to completely check all forms of gambling. Efforts have been centered on devices that make it possible for children to gamble. Officers should continue their campaigns to check as much gambling as possible. They deserve praise for what they have accomplished.

CIRCUITEER.

TO B. S. MILLAR

DEAR SIR: Congratulations on your appointment to a position in the state conservation department. It would be difficult to find a man better qualified for conservation work. Your long association with Pickaway county organizations for sportsmen and your active participation in conservation projects in this county should be of valuable assistance to you in your new work. Pickaway countians are pleased to learn of your appointment and wish you success.

CIRCUITEER.

TO H. J. BRIGGS, J. B. CROMLEY

GENTLEMEN: Urge some improvements along the Scioto river when you attend the 34th annual convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress in Washington, March 23 and 24. Cleaning out the channel of the stream, straightening its course and construction of dams on tributaries would prevent so many floods in this district. There have been many surveys along the stream, but nothing is ever done to correct the situation. Circleville was fortunate in obtaining the Route 22 improvement, to keep the road out of flood waters, but that does not benefit farmers whose lands along the stream are flooded several times a year.

CIRCUITEER.

TO ERVIN LEIST

DEAR SIR: Circleville residents were pleased to learn of your appointment as chemist-superintendent of the new disposal plant. Your position will be a difficult one until you and your assistants become familiar with the plant operation. Your training in chemistry and experience in laboratories of Circleville firms should be of great assistance to you. Circleville residents wish you success.

CIRCUITEER.

TO POLICE OFFICERS

PATROLMEN: Have you noticed the epidemic of auto backfires in Circleville in recent weeks? I have heard several residents complain about this nuisance. It seems that drivers enjoy this pastime late at night when they know it will create the greatest disturbance to those trying to get some rest. A few arrests and fines would stop this practice.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MOTORISTS

DRIVERS: Did you check the list of streets designated recently by city council as "through and stop" streets. The ordinance became effective Jan. 20. Remember, officers will be given instructions to enforce this ordinance to the letter to prevent accidents at city intersections. There are numerous drivers in the city who are accustomed to stopping for a street only when it is necessary. A few mistakes may be costly.

World At A Glance

President Roosevelt may be about as popular as ever with the American public in general. The straw polls, for whatever they may signify, all indicate that he does not lose much ground so far as the average of folk are concerned.

However, his influence certainly was at low ebb in the Senate the day the solons rejected his appointment of Floyd H. Roberts to the federal bench by a majority of 72 to 9. The Senate has turned down Presidential appointments before, but that was by the widest margin in American history. On a strict party vote, the White House tenant ought to have won 58 to 23. In fact, he lost 50 to 8, counting only Democratic Senators. True, he picked up one independent ballot (Senator Norris). All the Republicans were against him. Perhaps that was natural—though there are some quite new Dealerish G. O. P. Senators. Senator Shipstead (another liberal, as a Farmer-Laborite) was against the administration, too. And there were 15 absentees. If these absentees had been pro-Roosevelt and had tried very hard, most of them could have been on the job. The truth is that they did not want to vote against the President, but they did not want to vote HIS WAY either. So they were not THERE.

The nub of it is that "F.D." could not control quite as many as 1 in 4

of his own Senate Democrats, regardless of other partisans. He did not even hold his New Deal Democratic alignment together. If he had been able to do so, he could have squeaked through.

HOW DID IT HAPPEN?

In the first place, Floyd H. Roberts' appointment to the federal bench in Virginia was not so very important nationally. It is agreed that it was a pretty good appointment also—noting the matter with Judge Roberts.

But Senators Glass and Byrd of Virginia had made a different selection, and it is recognized that a Senator is entitled to dictate federal appointments within his own bailiwick. And here were two Senators, in partnership, who concurred. It made a strong team.

Other Senators are like this. They want political "pap" as much as Senators Glass and Byrd do. If they do not support Glass and Byrd, Glass and Byrd will not support them, is turn. Yet the administration does not regard Glass, Byrd and their ilk as genuine New Dealers; consequently it does not heed their admonitions. It rates them, not exactly as Republicans, but as some other alien political breed; so, when they tell what they want, they do not get it. Nevertheless, there are Democrats (even New Deal Democrats) who still feel that Glass and

Byrd are Democrats under the skin.

Paraphrasing: Glass and Byrd are no more the same with Neely or Pepper than Capper and Frazier, and Austin and Hale are the same.

The parties are completely split up.

And President Roosevelt has not got either party that he can depend on—not if that Roberts vote means anything.

Moreover, it is a GOOD thing. Checks and balances! That was the original idea. It has been lost sight of lately.

WHO IS A COMMUNIST?

In connection with the Roberts appointment, nobody has asked, "Is he a Communist?" That is rational, anyhow. Nobody so considered him.

But the query was put concerning Tom Amle, for the Interstate Commerce Commission. And concerning Harry Bridges, labor leader. And they both have answered, "No."

Who knows better than each of them what he is.

If anybody asks me, "Am I a Democrat or a Republican?" and I reply "Yes" or "No," I assume that my word will be taken for it. It generally is, at the primary polls. There is not much discredit, one way or the other. If I say I am not a Communist, why shouldn't that "go" too? I ought to know.

He obtains a hotel room for her and promises to call her next day.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER FOUR

SHABBY AND commonplace as it was, the hotel room was almost unbelievable luxury to Lona after Mrs. Peterman's and the park bench. Brushing her curling brown hair before the dresser mirror, she wondered what her father would say if he could see her now, and what he would think if he knew she had taken money from a strange man. She would never tell him, she decided.

In her letters these last three months she had never breathed a word about being out of work, or the sickening tramp, grimp of the streets that had been grinding her shoes to pieces and her soul to shreds. She hadn't the heart to add to his already too heavy burden. Especially when it couldn't have done the slightest good.

She had seen her father only once since that black day six years ago, when the gates of the gray prison at the state capital had closed on his bowed head. He had permitted her only one visit.

"I can't stand to have you see me here," he had told her sadly, and she would never forget the sight of his white face shining against the drab plainness of the tiny prison sitting room, a face already touched, after only a month's absence from her, with the slowness of expression she had learned to associate with prison bars.

"You're not to come again," he had commanded her, in his quiet voice. She had stared at him unbelievably.

"But, daddy!" she had burst out. "I've got to come! Surely you can't mean you don't want to see me?"

"I can't stand it, Lona, I tell you!" The pain in his eyes had cut her to the heart. "You're too young and too unspoiled to be coming to this place. I want you to try and forget me. And he had asked her many a time to go to the movies with him back in Bridgewater just as respectfully as did Tim Evans from the office sales department here in the city. And then he had turned—beastly! And it had cost him his life, and her father his freedom. No, there was no trust left in her for any man!

So that it came to her with a little shock as she sat, now, before the hotel mirror, that she hadn't felt that way about Jim Claridge. Was it, perhaps, because she had been so terribly up against it when he had come upon her, that there was no room for mistrust, or was it because he had been so sympathetic about her father?

She still remembered, with a sick feeling, the day, only six months after she had come to Ardmore's,

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

MY FRIEND, Dr. Karl Menninger, of Topeka, author of the current very popular book, Man Against Himself, delivered himself, in the course of an address at the New York Academy of Medicine a month or so ago, of the following fable, which explains from his point of view the division of medicine into specialties:

palpate the great beast and to determine the nature of his being.

"The first man's hands fell upon the elephant's tusks. 'Ah!' said he, 'This creature is a thing of bones; they even protrude through his skin.' Later on, years having past, this man became an orthopedist.

"At the same time the second blind man seized the elephant's trunk and identified its function. 'What a nose!' he exclaimed. 'Surely this is the most important part of the animal.' Accordingly, he became a rhinologist.

"The third man chanced upon the elephant's great flapping ear and came to a similar conclusion; for him the ear was everything, so he, in time, became an otologist.

"The fourth blind man rested his hands on the huge chest and abdomen of the elephant. 'The contents of this barrel must be enormous,' he thought, 'and the pathological derangements infinite in number and variety.' Nothing would do but that he should become an internist.

"One of the blind men caught hold of the elephant's tail. 'This,' he said, 'would appear to be a useless appendage. It might ever be a source of trouble. Better take it off.' This blind man became a surgeon.

"But the last of the six men did not depend upon the sense of touch. Instead, he only listened. He had heard the elephant approaching, the rattle of chains and the shouts of the keepers. It may be that he heard the elephant heaving a great sigh as he trudged along. 'Where is the creature going?' he asked. No one answered. 'Where did he come from?' he asked. No one knew.

"Then this man fell into a deep reverie. What was in the elephant's mind, he wondered, in having left wherever he was and having come to this great city? Why does he submit to the indignities of our curiosity and the slavery of chains? And while he was wondering how to find out the answers to these questions the elephant was gone.

Last Is Psychiatrist

"This man became a psychiatrist." To one who lives in a severely practical world, this might seem to glorify the work of the specialist in disorders of the psyche somewhat too extravagantly. After all, when you have bone trouble, the bone itself becomes pretty important, but, then, Karl Menninger is a very brilliant man, made nearer in the image of God than most of the rest of us, and he may be more right than we think.

150 at Brotherhood's Wife-Sweetheart Dinner

Dr. Otto Mees of Capital U. on Program

Dr. Otto Mees, president of Capital university, Columbus, was guest speaker, Thursday night, at the annual Wife and Sweetheart banquet of the Lutheran Brotherhood. He used for his subject, "Our Background", and interested the assemblage deeply with his remarks.

The banquet, always the high spot of the social meetings of the year, was an outstanding success, when 150 guests were entertained in the parish house. The affair was arranged by Frank Palm and his assisting committee included J. D. Hummel, Harry Groce, George Hilmrod and Clarence Helvering. A baked ham dinner was served.

L. M. Mader was in charge of the dining room. The long tables were decorated with pots of pink flowers placed at intervals on green streamers which extended the length of the white cloths. Ten young girls of high school age, members of the congregation, served quickly and efficiently.

Carl Leist, poetic toastmaster, presented the speakers, calling first on Larry Athey, president of the brotherhood, who welcomed the ladies. Mrs. John Walters responded. George Griffith's subject was "Women" and Mrs. Athey responded to the toast to "Men". E. E. Sensenbrenner read the club "Bulletin". Group singing interspersed the program.

Dr. Mees talked at the close of the after dinner speeches. Mr. Mader furnished electrically recorded music during the dinner hour.

SEEN ALONG FIFTH AVENUE

COLORFUL little hats with a hint of Spring in their flirtatious veils and part bows are to be seen directly a shining hour of sun presents itself these days. Flower hats are back again, brief, little, forward-tilted discs that are one mass of blossoms. A lovely model is of chartreuse flowers on a hat fashioned entirely on blue and fuchsia veiling with a full veil that ties beneath the chin. Another model is of red and pink flowers held to the head by a twisted band of orchid tulle that ties in back. But not all is whimsy. There are per little sailors trimmed with ribbon twists and myriad bows.

MOLYNEUX advocates day-length skirts for very formal afternoon and informal evening wear, just as he likes the little girl type of frock for general day wear. One day dress that is bound to appear on this side is a model of stiff black moire with patent leather belt and full, elbow length sleeves. This type of frock can be built up with the aid of various accessories and lends itself extremely well to costume or real jewelry. Daytime coats tightening in front and loose in back are a hint of things to come.

COLORFUL little hats with a hint of Spring in their flirtatious veils and part bows are to be seen directly a shining hour of sun presents itself these days. Flower hats are back again, brief, little, forward-tilted discs that are one mass of blossoms. A lovely model is of chartreuse flowers on a hat fashioned entirely on blue and fuchsia veiling with a full veil that ties beneath the chin. Another model is of red and pink flowers held to the head by a twisted band of orchid tulle that ties in back. But not all is whimsy. There are pert little sailors trimmed with ribbon twists and myriad bows.

MOLYNEUX advocates day-length skirts for very formal afternoon and informal evening wear, just as he likes the little girl type of frock for general day wear. One day dress that is bound to appear on this side is a model of stiff black moire with patent leather belt and full, elbow length sleeves. This type of frock can be built up with the aid of various accessories and lends itself extremely well to costume or real jewelry. Daytime coats tightening in front and loose in back are a hint of things to come.

STARS SAY—

For Friday, February 17

A FINE stimulus to all the forces and faculties is assured on this day, according to the lunar and mutual aspects. There is promise of much high pressure salesmanship, with important projects and constructive plans to be put over with energy and initiative. This will attract the solid support of the influential and financially powerful, but in all be alert to some cunning or tricky involvements. Promotion and pre-ferment also react on the social and domestic life, with personal popularity and prestige.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves working at high tension, with all the faculties and forces keyed up to splendid creative activity, encouraged by the recognition and ready support of those in high places. And while meritorious projects should thrive, at the same time there are loopholes for subtle or clever entanglements to be guarded against. Social and private affiliations partake of the good fortune and enhanced popularity.

A child born on this day may have much ability, force and initiative, and may attract the recognition and friendly support of those in power and influence. Its creative faculties and high ambitions assure it position in social as well as business circles.

ONE ARMED, SAVES TOTS

YAKIMA, Wash.—It took a one-armed neighbor only a few minutes to extricate three little children from a burning home after their parents went to a movie and left the stove stoked to the brim. The children had been locked inside the burning building and their cries brought George W. Kent who freed them.

KANSAN RUNNING AFTER ANOTHER N. A. C. TROPHY

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—Glenn Cunningham, undefeated in 17 straight mile grinds will again hold the center of attention when he races over the boards in the Baxter mile, highlight of the 70th anniversary indoor track games of the New York Athletic club tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden.

The fleet Kansan will be starting in his seventh Baxter mile and a victory will mean—in addition to 18 straight—that he becomes the first man to triumph in the event five times. Abel Kiviat won the race four times straight from its beginning in 1910.

Another victory for the highly favored Kansan and he retires another Baxter cup. Glenn has a big edge for this "time" cup over a three-year span with his 4:08.6.

Cunningham will be opposed by Chuck Fenske of Wisconsin, who looms as his toughest foe; Archie San Romani, fellow Kansan now apparently rounding into real indoor form; Joseph Mostert, Belgian ace, and Gene Venzke, veteran miler.

Sharing much of the interest is Don Lash, Indiana's running policeman, who looks like a possible record-breaker in the two-mile race. Lash now boasts the indoor mark of 8:58.

BIG ED DUDLEY LEADS FIELD IN N'ORLEANS TILT

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 17—Big Ed Dudley, Ryder cup veteran from Philadelphia, today paced the field of nearly 200 into the second round of the $10,000 Crescent city open golf tournament.

Dudley, with powerful shots into the windswept course, was the only one of the bunch able to crack par on the first round. He came home with a 36-34—70 over the 6,327-yard, par-72 layout which proved two strokes better than anyone else could do.

Zell Eaton of Oklahoma City, Okla., and National Open Champion Ralph Guldahl, Madison, N. J., and Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., swatter, were deadlocked in second place with 72's.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Boston—Honey Melody, 134, Boston, retained New England lightweight championship by decision over Abe Denner, 129, Boston (12).

Cocca Kid, 141, New Haven, Conn., defeated Buster Carroll, 144, Lowell, Mass. (10).
At Atlantic City, N. J.—Young Gene Buffalo, 154, Philadelphia, decided Roxie Forgiione, 161, Philadelphia (10).
At Fall River, Mass.—Frankie Britt, 149, Fall River, claimant to the New England welterweight championship, stopped Lew Raymond, 147, Baltimore (4).

STRIPP FREE AGENT

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—Joe Stripp, acquired by the Dodgers from the Boston Bees, was no longer on the Dodgers roster today. He was given an unconditional release by Larry MacPhail. Because of his 10-year record he cannot be shipped to the Minors.

STARS SAY—

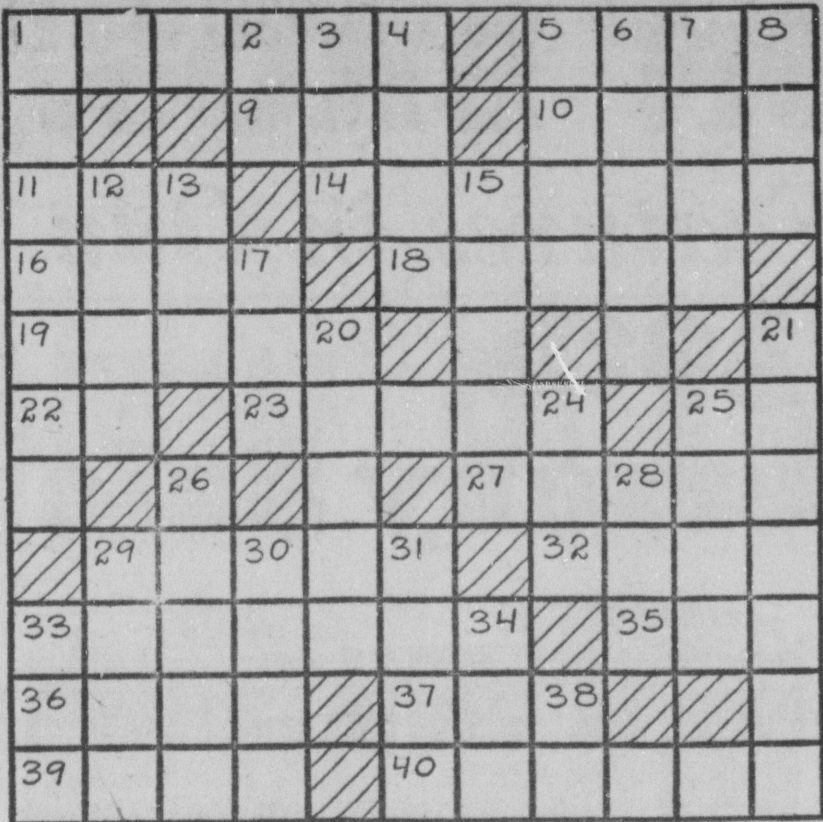

For Friday, February 17 A FINE stimulus to all the forces and faculties is assured on this day, according to the lunar and mutual aspects. There is promise of much high pressure salesmanship, with important projects and constructive plans to be put over with energy and initiative. This will attract the solid support of the influential and financially powerful, but in all be alert to some cunning or tricky involvements. Promotion and preferment also react on the social and domestic life, with personal popularity and prestige.

Those whose birthday it may find themselves working at high tension, with all the faculties and forces keyed up to splendid creative ability, encouraged by the recognition and ready support of those in high places. And while meritorious projects should thrive, at the same time there are loopholes for subtle or clever entanglements to be guarded against. Social and private affiliations partake of the good fortune and enhanced popularity.

A child born on this day may have much ability, force and initiative, and may attract the recognition and friendly support of those in power and influence. Its creative faculties and high ambitions assure it position in social as well as business circles.

ONE ARMED, SAVES TOTS YAKIMA, Wash.—It took a one-armed neighbor only a few minutes to extricate three little children from a burning home after their parents went to a movie and left the stove stoked to the brim. The children had been locked inside the burning building and their cries brought George W. Kent who freed them.

LYLE APPOINTED MOTOR VEHICLES REGISTRAR

1939 AUTO TAGS
TO BE PUT ON SALE MARCH 1

Circleville Office To Be Located In Pickaway
Motor Sales Room

COUNTAINS CHOSEN, TOO

Clyde Brinker To Serve
Ashville; Garrison In Williamsport

A. J. Lyle, 154 W. Mound street, received his appointment Thursday
as deputy registrar of motor vehicles in Circleville.

Mr. Lyle, who will have charge of the sale of license tags, drivers'
and chauffeurs' licenses, will have his office at the Pickaway Motor Sales, Inc., W. Main street. He will open his office on March 1
when the new auto tags will be placed on sale.

Mr. Lyle succeeds James McLaughlin, S. Washington street.
His appointment was made by
C. W. Wallace, of Toledo, who succeeded Frank West as state registrar. Mr. Lyle said his employees would be announced at a later date.

Other deputy registrars of the county are Clyde Brinker, of Ash-ville; Edward Kirkpatrick, of New Holland, and Mrs. Pauline Hutchison, of Commercial Point. They will sell both tags and licenses.
Charles E. Garrison, of Williamsport, will sell auto tags. Everett Wing, of Williamsport, indorsed to issue chauffeurs' and drivers' licenses, will be appointed at a later date, it is understood.

The new deputy registrars were indorsed by the Pickaway county Republican Executive committee.

EAGLES ARRANGE FAMILY PARTY ON WEDNESDAY

The Circleville aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will hold a family party on Wednesday, Feb. 22 at 8 p. m. in celebration of Washington's birthday.

All members of the aerie and their families are urged to attend
by Charles Garner, trustee, and Leonard Morgan, president.

There will be dancing, entertainment and a pot luck supper.

1,341 BOYS ASK HOMES FROM FATHER FLANAGAN

BOYS TOWN, Nebr., Feb. 17—
There were 1,341 applications for admission to Father Flanagan's Boys' Home at Boys Town in 1938, according to the Home's annual report which was just released. A total of 335 boys was cared for at the famous Boys Town Home during 1938. They came from thirty-one states and Canada and represented 24 nationalities.

Homeless boys led the list of boys admitted to the home. Lack of facilities forced the authorities
at the Home to deny admittance
of 1,207 of the 1938 applicants.
Practically all of the boys cared for by the Home last year were total charity cases.

Cat Accused of $1,299.60 Damages

A PLAYFUL kitten on the keys? But a bit too playful is Angel, according to a damage suit for $1,299.60 filed by Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Crawford, owners of a house at Santa Monica Canyon, Calif., against Mr. and Mrs. David Hertz, to whom the cat belongs. Angel is believed to have crawled into the closed house through a chimney and to have been imprisoned there for 40 days and 40 nights.
Crazed by lack of food, he is alleged to have torn up things.

Dependent Children Get $1,306,582 for Quarter

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17—During the first quarter of 1939 approximately $1,306,582 will be paid out for the aid of dependent children in Ohio, Judge Henry J. Robison, chief of the state division of public assistance, said today.

Of this amount the federal Social Security board has allocated $361,000, which leaves close to $1,000,000 to be provided by the state and the various county governments.

At the end of January, 31,182 dependent children in approximately 11,000 families were being aided under this program, while at the same time there were 10,000 children in more than 3,000 homes on the waiting list for the same type of assistance.

Just how soon the thousands
now in the waiting list can be absorbed in the program will depend largely on how much the state and county governments will provide in the way of finances. In the general biennium appropriation bill to be acted on at the present session of the legislature
it is expected that that body will be called on to furnish an increased appropriation in carrying forward the program and should the appropriation be increased there is hope for the thousands of children waiting for aid.

The chief of the division of public assistance is optimistic in the belief that the National Social Security act will be amended to make possible it for the federal Social Security board to increase its allocation so as to pay one-half of the cost of the program of aid for dependent children in Ohio, instead of one-third as it has been doing. If this is done it would bring this program on an equality with the program of aid for the aged in which the federal government does pay 50 percent of the cost.

In the distribution of aid for dependent children for January in Ohio, Pickaway county received $15,565.93 for 737 recipients which amounted to an average award of $21.12.

DARBY TOWNSHIP JUSTICE FILES RE-TRIAL APPEAL

Motion for a new trial, listing four alleged errors, was filed in Common Pleas court Thursday in the action of Ralph Leesburg, of Scioto township, against Dennis Kautz, Darby township.

A jury returned a verdict of $500
last Tuesday in favor of Leesburg, who asked $5,000 damages for false imprisonment.

O.S.U. TRUSTEES START INQUIRY

Committee Directed By Dargusch To Call Witnesses

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17—Opening today of Ohio State university's own investigation into alleged
"Red" activities on the campus was to give officials of the Franklin County American Legion an opportunity to substantiate un-Americanism charges hurled at students by the veteran's organization.

Headed by Carlton S. Dargusch,
a committee of university trustees
was to call first witnesses today.
Named to assist the investigating group was Maj. S. P. Dunkle.

Agitation for a legislative inquiry was started by the local Legion several weeks ago. Then trustees agreed to conduct their own probe, outcome of which may determine whether there will be a senate investigation.

Meanwhile students watched progress of the probe with interest. Handbills charging that the legion and "fellow advocates of reaction are preparing to smash
all labor organizations" were distributed on the campus by the Revolutionary Workers League of Cleveland.

FIRE MARSHAL APPOINTS AIDES IN OHIO AREAS

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17—Appointment of five assistant fire marshals was announced today by

Hiram Henderson, Reinersville,
to have charge of Noble, Monroe,
Morgan and Washington counties.
W. E. Blower, Glouster, to have charge of Athens, Meigs, Gallon and Vinton counties.

Dwight Darkello, Delaware, to have charge of Morrow, Delaware,
Union and Logan counties.

W. S. Hines, Lancaster, to have charge of Fairfield, Hocking, Pick-away, Fayette and Perry counties.

Glenn Dicus, Findlay, to have charge of Hancock, Putnam, Allen, Van Wert and Mercer counties.

TWO YOUTHS TO FACE LONG TERMS IN PRISON

WILMINGTON, Feb. 17—Two Columbus youths, Everett Marks, 21, and Harold Williams, 20, each faced a 30-year sentence in Ohio penitentiary today after pleading guilty to armed robbery and kidnapping in Clinton county Common Pleas court at Wilmington.

Arraigned three hours after indictment by a grand jury, the youths pleaded guilty to robbing and kidnapping C. O. Minton, Wilmington insurance man.

Cat Accused of $1,299.60 Damages

A PLAYFUL kitten on the keys? But a bit too playful is Angel, according to a damage suit for $1,299.60 filed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crawford, owners of a house at Santa Monica Canyon, Calif., against Mr. and Mrs. David Hertz, to whom the cat belongs. Angel is believed to have crawled into the closed house through a chimney and to have been imprisoned there for 40 days and 40 nights. Crazy by lack of food, he is alleged to have torn up things.

Dependent Children Get $1,306,582 for Quarter

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17.—During the first quarter of 1939 approximately $1,306,582 will be paid out for the aid of dependent children in Ohio, Judge Henry J. Robison, chief of the state division of public assistance, said today.

Of this amount the federal Social Security board has allocated $361,000, which leaves close to $1,000,000 to be provided by the state and the various county governments.

At the end of January, 31,182 dependent children in approximately 11,000 families were being aided under this program, while at the same time there were 10,000 children in more than 3,000 homes on the waiting list for the same type of assistance.

Just how soon the thousands now in the waiting list can be absorbed in the program will depend largely on how much the state and county governments will provide in the way of finances. In the general biennial appropriation bill to be acted on at the present session of the legislature it is expected that that body will be called on to furnish an increased appropriation in carrying forward the program and should the appropriation be increased there is hope for the thousands of children waiting for aid.

The chief of the division of public assistance is optimistic in the belief that the National Social Security act will be amended to make possible it for the federal Social Security board to increase its allocation so as to pay one-half of the cost of the program of aid for dependent children in Ohio, instead of one-third as it has been doing. If this is done it would bring this program on an equality with the program of aid for the aged in which the federal government does pay 50 percent of the cost.

In the distribution of aid for dependent children for January in Ohio, Pickaway county received $15,565.93 for 737 recipients which amounted to an average award of $21.12.

DARBY TOWNSHIP JUSTICE FILES RE-TRIAL APPEAL

Motion for a new trial, listing four alleged errors, was filed in Common Pleas court Thursday in the action of Ralph Leesburg, of Scioto township, against Dennis Kautz, Darby township.

A jury returned a verdict of $500 last Tuesday in favor of Leesburg, who asked $5,000 damages for false imprisonment.

O.S.U. TRUSTEES START INQUIRY

Committee Directed By Dargusch To Call Witnesses

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17.—Opening today of Ohio State university's own investigation into alleged "Red" activities on the campus was to give officials of the Franklin County American Legion an opportunity to substantiate un-Americanism charges hurled at students by the veteran's organization.

Headed by Carlton S. Dargusch, a committee of university trustees was to call first witnesses today. Named to assist the investigating group was Maj. S. P. Dunkle.

Agitation for a legislative inquiry was started by the local Legion several weeks ago. Then trustees agreed to conduct their own probe, outcome of which may determine whether there will be a senate investigation.

Meanwhile students watched progress of the probe with interest. Handbills charging that the legion and "fellow advocates of reaction are preparing to smash all labor organizations" were distributed on the campus by the Revolutionary Workers League of Cleveland.

FIRE MARSHAL APPOINTS AIDES IN OHIO AREAS

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17.—Appointment of five assistant fire marshals was announced today by State Fire Marshal Ray Gill. Each to receive an annual salary of $1,500, they were:

Hiram Henderson, Reinersville, to have charge of Noble, Monroe, Morgan and Washington counties. W. E. Blower, Glouster, to have charge of Athens, Meigs, Gallon and Vinton counties.

Dwight Darkello, Delaware, to have charge of Morrow, Delaware, Union and Logan counties.

W. S. Hines, Lancaster, to have charge of Fairfield, Hocking, Pickaway, Fayette and Perry counties.

Glenn Dicus, Findlay, to have charge of Hancock, Putnam, Allen, Van Wert and Mercer counties.

TWO YOUTHS TO FACE LONG TERMS IN PRISON

WILMINGTON, Feb. 17.—Two Columbus youths, Everett Marks, 21, and Harold Williams, 20, each faced a 30-year sentence in Ohio penitentiary today after pleading guilty to armed robbery and kidnapping in Clinton county Common Pleas court at Wilmington.

Arraigned three hours after indictment by a grand jury, the youths pleaded guilty to robbing and kidnapping C. O. Minton, Wilmington insurance man.
